

Terms of Use Regarding the Highly Functionalized Antibody

Sequence Proposal Service “RevoAb”

Introduction

These Terms of Use (hereinafter referred to as "these Terms") set forth the conditions for access to and use of the Highly Functionalized Antibody Sequence Proposal Service “RevoAb”(hereinafter referred to as "the Service") provided by RevolKa Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "the Company"). By accessing or using the Service, the user agrees to these Terms.

Definitions of Terms

- User: An individual or entity that accesses or uses the Service.
- Personal Account: An account intended for personal use, registered with a personal email address, not associated with the User's employer or affiliated institution.
- Institutional Account: An account used in connection with duties or responsibilities at the User's employer, affiliated institution, university, laboratory, or other organization (hereinafter referred to as "Institution"), registered with an email address issued by the Institution.
- Enterprise Tenant Account: A corporate version of the Service provided by the Company for a separate fee.
- Company Content: All data, information, materials, and the like within the Service, including, without limitation, all information, software, technology, processes, logos, trademarks, graphics, text, designs, and any other content provided by the Company through the Service
- Usage Data: Data collected by the Company in relation to the use of the Service, such as technical logs, account and login data, frequency of use, functions used, and operations within the Service. Usage Data includes data processed into a form that does not allow for the identification of individuals or Institutions.
- Feedback: Suggestions, ideas, requests for improvement, recommendations, and other information provided by the User to the Company.
- Third-Party Services: Products, add-ons, services, or platforms not provided by the Company that the User uses in connection with the Service.
- Consumer: Refers to a "consumer" as defined in Article 2, Paragraph 1 of the Consumer Contract Act (Act No. 61 of 2000).

1. Agreement to these Terms and User Registration

1.1 Any individual or entity who wishes to become a User of the Service shall complete the user registration process in accordance with the procedures prescribed by the Company, agreeing to the contents of these Terms.

1.2 The application for registration must be made by the individual or entity that will use the Service. Unless separately approved by the Company, applications for registration made by an agent (in the case of an entity, it means an agent who is a third party and does not qualify as an officer or employee of the entity) will not be permitted. In addition, the applicant must provide the Company with truthful, accurate, and up-to-date information when applying for registration.

1.3 If there is any change to the information registered pursuant to the preceding paragraph, the User shall promptly follow the procedures to update the registered information.

1.4 The Company may, at its sole discretion, refuse User registration.

1.5 The User may not allow the use of, lend, transfer, sell, or pledge their account on the Service to third parties, or engage in similar transactions.

2. Types of Accounts

2.1 The Service provides two types of accounts: Personal Accounts and Institutional Accounts.

2.2 Personal Account: A Personal Account is intended for the User's personal use and is not associated with the User's employer or affiliated institution. When creating a Personal Account, the User must register using a personal email address, not one issued by an Institution.

2.3 Institutional Account: An Institutional Account is used in connection with duties or responsibilities at the User's employer, affiliated institution, university, laboratory, or other organization. When creating an Institutional Account, the User must register using an email address issued by the relevant Institution. By registering with an institutional email address, the User is deemed to have agreed to use the Service solely for purposes related to their role and responsibilities within the Institution, and not for personal purposes.

3. Special Provisions Regarding Institutional Accounts

Any work or intellectual property created or managed within the Service through an Institutional Account (hereinafter referred to as "Institutional IP") shall belong to the User or the relevant Institution, in accordance with the agreement between the User and the Institution. Users understand and agree that they must choose either a Personal Account, Institutional Account, or Enterprise Tenant Account within the Service and the choice affects the management and ownership of customer data and Institutional IP. The Company shall not be held responsible for any consequences arising from the choice of account type, including but not limited to the Institution's management of customer data and Institutional IP.

4. Migration to Enterprise Tenant Account

"Enterprise Tenant Account" refers to a product provided by the Company for a specified fee. If a User's customer data is migrated from a Personal Account or Institutional Account to an Enterprise Tenant Account, the Company shall not be liable for any issues that may arise during such migration, including but not limited to delays, failures, or loss of customer data.

5. Payment Terms

- Usage Fees and Billing: The Company offers the following pricing plan.

- Taxes: Usage fees for the Service shall include consumption tax and other applicable taxes charged separately.
- Payment Fee: All payment-related fees shall be borne by the user.
- Currency: All payments related to the Service shall be made in US Dollar only if the User's country of residence is other than Japan.
- Refunds and Cancellations: No refunds or cancellations shall be permitted after any Content has been provided for the use of the Service.
- Price Changes: The Company reserves the right to change the usage fees for the Service and shall notify Users in advance in the event of any fee changes.

6. Intellectual Property

- Ownership: All copyrights, patent rights, utility model rights, trademark rights, design rights, and all other intellectual property rights, including rights to register such rights (hereinafter collectively referred to as “Intellectual Property Rights”), related to the Company Content, namely all content provided by the Company through the Service, belong to the Company or its licensors and do not belong to the User.
- The User may not, in any form or by any means, reproduce, reprint, publicly transmit, modify, or otherwise use the Company Content beyond the scope of private use as defined by the Copyright Act.
- User’s Copy Rights: Any content (such content may, on the Service, be referred to as “User Content.”) created by the User on the basis of sequence information and the like obtained through the use of the Service, regardless of whether such content qualifies as a copyrighted work (including the rights set forth in Articles 27 and 28 of the Copyright Act) shall belong to the User. The User agrees to grant the Company the right to use such content freely, without compensation and without limitation, for any purpose.
- Limited License: The Company may grant the User a limited, non-exclusive, non-transferable license to access and use the Service for the User's internal business purposes, in accordance with these Terms.

7. Confidentiality

7.1 The User and the Company shall strictly and appropriately manage the other party’s confidential information obtained in connection with the provision or use of the Service (including know-how related to the Service, information about the Service's systems, and all technical or business-related confidential information), and shall not disclose, provide, or leak such information to any third party (including the Company’s affiliates and contractors)

without the prior written consent of the other party, nor use it for any purpose other than the provision or use of the Service.

7.2 The following information shall not be considered confidential information:

- (1) Information already in possession at the time of disclosure
- (2) Information already publicly known at the time of disclosure or information that becomes publicly known thereafter for reasons not attributable to the receiving party
- (3) Information lawfully obtained from a third party after disclosure
- (4) Information independently developed or created without reference to the disclosed confidential information

7.3 Upon request by the other party or upon termination of this agreement, the User and the Company shall promptly return or dispose of the confidential information in accordance with the other party's instructions, after restoring it to its original state, and shall not use it thereafter.

7.4 If the Company discloses User's confidential information to its affiliates or contractors with the User's consent, the Company shall bear no responsibility for the handling of such confidential information by those affiliates or contractors.

7.5 The Company may use the User's confidential information for the purpose of providing the Service.

7.6 Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph 1, if disclosure of confidential information is required by laws, courts, administrative agencies, or public authorities with regulatory authority through rules, judgments, orders, or instructions, the Company may disclose the confidential information to the necessary extent.

8. Termination of Contract

8.1 The Company may terminate this Agreement without any notice if the User falls under any of the following:

- (1) The registered information contains false information.
- (2) The User has previously been expelled by the Company.
- (3) The User's heir, etc., notifies the Company of the User's death, or the Company confirms the fact of the User's death.
- (4) A minor uses the Service without the consent of their legal representative.

- (5) An adult ward, person under curatorship, or person under assistance uses the Service without the consent of their guardian, curator, or assistant, etc.
- (6) The User fails to respond in good faith to a request from the Company.
- (7) Any other case deemed inappropriate by the Company.

8.2 In addition to the cases listed in the preceding paragraph, the Company may terminate this agreement by notifying the User at least 30 days in advance. Furthermore, if the User wishes to withdraw, the User may cancel their account at any time by notifying the Company in the manner prescribed by the Company.

8.3 Upon termination of this agreement, the User shall forfeit the benefit of term and immediately fulfill all obligations owed to the Company. In addition, the User's right to use the Service shall be suspended upon termination of this agreement, and the Company may delete the User's account and related data. Usage fees paid by the User to the Company will not be refunded unless otherwise specified in the refund policy.

9. Disclaimer of Warranties and Indemnification

9.1 The Service is provided “as is” and “as available,” without any express or implied warranties (including but not limited to warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, or non-infringement). The Company makes no warranties whatsoever regarding the completeness, accuracy, or effectiveness, etc., of the content of the Service. The Company does not warrant that the Service will be uninterrupted, error-free, secure, or meet the User's requirements.

9.2 The Company shall be exempt from liability in the following cases:

- If performance of all or part of this Agreement becomes impossible due to force majeure, including natural disasters, land deformation, fires, strikes, trade stoppages, war, civil unrest, or outbreaks of infectious disease
- If damage occurs because the User failed to update their registration information
- If the User violates Japanese or foreign laws in connection with the use of the Service
- If User information is stolen due to unforeseen unauthorized access or other such acts

10. Limitation of Liability

In no event shall The Company or its affiliates, officers, employees, agents, or licensors be liable for any indirect, incidental, special, consequential, or punitive damages (including but not limited to loss of profits, loss of data, or damages resulting from inability to use). This applies whether such damages are based on warranty, contract, tort (including negligence), or any other legal theory, even if the Company has been advised of the possibility of such damages. The total cumulative liability of the Company for all claims related to the Service shall not exceed the full amount of the usage fees stipulated in Section 5 paid by the User to the Company for the Service in the twelve (12) months immediately preceding the event that gave rise to the damages.

However, if the User is a Consumer, this shall not apply, and the following shall apply instead:

- The Company shall be liable for damages incurred by the User due to the Company's willful misconduct or gross negligence.
- The Company shall be liable for damages caused to the User due to the Company's slight negligence, up to the full amount of the usage fees stipulated in Section 5 paid by the User for the Service in the twelve (12) months immediately preceding the event that gave rise to the damages.

11. Modification of these Terms

11.1 The Company may modify these Terms at any time pursuant to Article 548-4 of the Civil Code if any of the items listed below apply. This agreement after the modification to these Terms shall be governed by the modified Terms.

- The modification to these Terms is in conformity with the general interests of the Users.
- The modification to these Terms does not contradict the purpose of the agreement, and is reasonable in light of the necessity for the modification, the appropriateness of the modified content, and other circumstances related to the modification.

11.2 When modifying these Terms, the Company shall specify the effective date of the modified Terms and notify Users of the content and effective date of the modified Terms at least two weeks before the effective date, through display on the Service or other methods prescribed by the Company to inform Users.

11.3 Notwithstanding the preceding two paragraphs, if a User uses the Service after the notification of the modification to these Terms or does not complete cancellation procedures within the period prescribed by the Company, that User shall be deemed to have agreed to the modification to these Terms.

12. Suspension, etc., of the Service

12.1 The Company may suspend or interrupt all or part of the use of the Service without prior notice to registered Users in any of the following cases:

- (1) When conducting regular or emergency inspection or maintenance work on the computer system related to the Service.
- (2) When computers, communication lines, etc., are stopped due to an accident.
- (3) When the operation of the Service becomes impossible due to force majeure such as fire, power outage, natural disasters, or other unforeseeable events.
- (4) When troubles, service interruptions or suspensions, stoppage of integration with the Service, specification changes, etc., occur in external services.
- (5) When the Company deems suspension or interruption necessary for other reasons.

12.2 The Company may discontinue providing the Service if it reasonably determines that the provision of the Service should be discontinued.

12.3 The Company shall not be liable for any damages caused to the Users due to measures taken pursuant to this Section, except in cases where the Company is at fault due to intentional or gross negligence.

13. Exclusion of Antisocial Forces

13.1 The User and the Company represent and guarantee that they are not currently members of organized crime groups, gang members, persons who have not passed five years since ceasing to be gang members, quasi-members of organized crime groups, companies affiliated with organized crime groups, corporate racketeers, social movement racketeers, special intelligence violent groups, or any other equivalent persons (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Organized Crime Group Members"), and that they do not fall under any of the following items, and will not fall under them in the future.

- (1) Having a relationship recognized as controlled in management by Organized Crime Group Members.
- (2) Having a relationship recognized as substantially involved in management by Organized Crime Group Members.
- (3) Having a relationship recognized as improperly using Organized Crime Group Members for the purpose of obtaining illicit profits for oneself, one's company, or a third party, or for the purpose of causing damage to a third party.
- (4) Having a relationship recognized as providing funds or conveniences to organized crime group members or being otherwise involved with them.
- (5) Having an executive officer or a person substantially involved in management who has a socially condemnable relationship with Organized Crime Group Members.

13.2 The User and the Company assure that they will not engage in any of the following acts either by themselves or through a third party:

- (1) Violent demands.
- (2) Unreasonable demands exceeding legal responsibility.
- (3) Threatening behavior or use of violence in relation to transactions.
- (4) Spreading rumors, using fraudulent means or force to damage the other party's credit, or interfering with the other party's business.
- (5) Other acts equivalent to the preceding items.

13.3. If it is found that the other party is an organized crime member or falls under any of the items in paragraph 1, or has engaged in any acts listed in the preceding paragraph, or has made false statements regarding the representations and warranties in paragraph 1, the User or the Company may terminate this agreement without any notice or demand to the other party, regardless of whether the reason is attributable to themselves.

13.4 The User and the Company acknowledge and agree that if this Agreement is terminated pursuant to the preceding paragraph, neither party shall be liable for any damages incurred by the other party.

14. Prohibited Matters

14.1 The Company prohibits the User from engaging in any of the acts listed in the following items when using the Service:

- (1) Acts that violate these Terms.
- (2) Acts that infringe or may infringe on property rights or personal rights such as Intellectual Property Rights and portrait right of the Company, Company's licensors, or third parties.
- (3) Acts that cause or may cause disadvantage or damage to the Company or third parties.
- (4) Acts that unjustly damage or may damage the honor, rights, or credibility of others.
- (5) Acts that violate laws, regulations, or ordinances.
- (6) Acts that violate public order and morals, or may violate public order and morals, or providing information that may violate public order and morals to other Users or third parties.
- (7) Criminal acts, acts leading to criminal acts, acts promoting criminal acts, or acts that may lead to such acts.
- (8) Providing information that is false or may be false.
- (9) Unauthorized access to the Company's system, tampering with program code or location information, intentional falsehoods, cheating using specifications of communication devices or applications, distribution of computer viruses, or acts that hinder or may hinder the normal operation of the Service.

- (10) Using macros or other functions or tools that automate operations.
- (11) Acts that damage or may damage the credibility of the Service.
- (12) Acts that may adversely affect the mental and physical development of youth and their sound growth.
- (13) Using another User's account or otherwise impersonating a third party to use the Service.
- (14) Acts that lead to or may lead to crimes such as fraud or the illegal sale or purchase of savings accounts or mobile phones.
- (15) Acts related to criminal proceeds, acts related to terrorist financing, or acts suspected of such.
- (16) Other acts that the Company deems inappropriate.

14.2 If the Company determines that the User's act falls under any of the items in the preceding paragraph, the Company may, without prior notice, take one or more of the following measures:

- (1) Restrictions on use of the Service.
- (2) Termination of these Terms.
- (3) Other acts that the Company reasonably deems necessary.

15. Dispute Resolution

Disputes arising in connection with these Terms or the Service shall first be resolved through sincere negotiations between the parties. If the dispute cannot be resolved through negotiations between the parties, the Sendai District Court shall have agreed exclusive jurisdiction as the court of first instance to resolve the dispute.

16. Governing Law

These Terms and any disputes arising from or relating to these Terms shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of Japan, without regard to its conflict of law principles.

17. Miscellaneous

- Integration with Third-Party Services: The integration between the Service and any third-party services used by the User shall be governed by the contractual terms between the User and such third parties, not by these Terms. The Company does not provide any guarantees, support, or assume any responsibility for the use of third-party services or content provided by third parties. If the User chooses to integrate the Service with a third-party service and the Company exchanges customer data with such third-party service to the extent necessary for the integration, the User agrees to the following:

(a) The Company may grant the third-party service access to customer data and information related to the User's use of the third-party service to the extent necessary to enable the integration.

(b) Such access to customer data shall be conducted only between the User and the third-party service and shall comply with the terms and conditions related to the use of the third-party service (including how they are presented and consented to).

(c) The Company shall not be responsible for any disclosure, alteration, or deletion of customer data arising from such access to the customer data.

- Trial: The Company may offer a trial as an option. Use of the trial is solely for internal evaluation during the period specified by the Company (30 days if no period is specified). The User may stop using the trial at any time at their own discretion. The Company may terminate the User's use of the trial at any time, for any reason. The trial is provided "as is" and may include non-functional, incomplete, or functions that may not be released. Notwithstanding any other provision of these Terms, the Company provides no guarantees, compensation, or support regarding the trial, and the Company's liability related to the use of the trial shall not exceed 100,000 yen.
- Collection and Use of Usage Data: The Company may collect usage data and use it for the operation, improvement, support, and other legitimate business purposes of the Service and related software (including statistical analysis and reporting). However, the Company shall not disclose usage data externally in a form that identifies the User or the User's Institution.
- Feedback: If the User provides feedback to the Company, the Company may use such feedback without restriction or obligation. All feedback is provided "as is," and the Company will not publicly identify the User as the source of the feedback without the User's prior written consent.
- Export Regulations: The User understands that the Service is subject to the Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Act (Act No. 228 of 1949) and other applicable import/export-related laws and regulations in Japan and elsewhere, and agrees to comply with all relevant laws and regulations in using the Service.
 - (a) The User represents and warrants that they are not listed on any export prohibition or restriction list issued by the Japanese government or other relevant governmental authorities, and that they are not located (or ordinarily resident) in countries where export is prohibited or restricted.

- (b) The User agrees not to access, export, or use the Services in violation of applicable import/export-related laws and regulations.
- (c) The User agrees not to use the Service for purposes related to the development, manufacture, or use of weapons prohibited under applicable import/export-related laws and regulations.
- (d) The User represents and warrants that any export-controlled technology provided to the Company is properly authorized when shared with the Company's personnel.
- Rights of the Japanese Government: If the Service is provided to the Government of Japan or its agencies, the Service shall be provided as a standard commercial service, and all provisions of these Terms shall apply except to the extent that specific legal conditions applicable to government agencies apply. If specific legal conditions applicable to government agencies conflict with the provisions of these Terms, such legal conditions shall prevail to the extent of the conflict.
 - Severability: If any provision of these Terms is found to be illegal or unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall remain fully effective.
 - Entire Agreement: These Terms constitute the entire agreement between the User and the Company regarding the Service and supersede all prior oral or written agreements and understandings.
 - Assignment: Neither the Company nor the User may assign or transfer any rights or obligations under these Terms.
 - Notices: The Company may provide notices to the User via email, in-app notifications, or through the Service. The User may send notices to the Company via email at [Company Contact Email Address].
 - Waiver of Rights: The Company's failure to enforce any provision of these Terms shall not be construed as a waiver of such provision or any other rights.
 - Survival Clauses: The provisions of these Terms regarding confidentiality, disclaimer of warranties and indemnification, limitations of liability, dispute resolution, and governing law shall survive termination of these Terms.
